Rumor Bowles
May Replace Either
John W. Snyder
Or John C. Collet

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—(P)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles appeared tonight to be on top, at least for the moment, in his fight for firm holding of a price line even though it be a line bent upwards to make room for wage increases.

This report on the internal wage-price controversy came from a responsible but unquotable official, as the White House gave out a denial that Reconversion Director John W. Snyder is to be replaced in his high post.

A White House spokesman also reported good progress was being made toward ending the 20-day strike of 750,000 CIO United Steelworkers.

The statement on Snyder was in answer to published reports that the wage-price policy might result in Bowles taking Snyder's job, with Federal Communications Commissioner Paul A. Porter replacing Bowles at OPA.

No Comment
But a new report came quickly into circulation in the economic agencies that Bowles might replace not Snyder but John C. Collet, stabilization administrator. The White House declined comment.

One official, well informed so far on the wage price jockeying, suggested: "Why should Bowles be moved up two steps?" This referred to the Bowles-Collet-Snyder chain of economic authority.

To bear this out there came, from still a third official source, the report that Bowles had gone to the White House Thursday expressly to seek more positive control of stabilization questions than he has heretofore enjoyed.

Shakeup Only a Rumor
White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told his news conference that he had no answers to questions about a shakeup in the economic high command. A few minutes after the news conference he came out of his office with this statement:

"There has been no change in the directorship of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. No change has been discussed and none is contemplated."

The high official who reported Bowles leading in his fight for a continuing firm price policy said the OPA chief would get full assurance from the White House of genuine support throughout the administration, not subject to overriding or "emergency" decisions made above him.

A Prime Issue
This was a prime issue on which Bowles has tangled with Snyder. However, the same source said Bowles would lose on "some of the more immediate questions," the kind of price increase to be granted the strikebound steel industry.

This presumably meant that official favor was congealing on an increase around $5 a ton or more, as recently reported, instead of the much lower increase advocated by Bowles.

With clarification of such major issues, this official stated, an announcement on the wage-price issue may come soon, perhaps Monday.

One Killed, Three Injured

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 9.—(P)—One man was killed and three injured today when a railroad handcar and a rural mail carrier's car collided at a grade crossing near West Plains.

Killed was Georgia Sizemore, about 45, of Beaverton, Ala., one of the two men operating the power-driven handcar to which was attached a trailer.

Of five Negroes riding on the trailer, three were injured. One was hospitalized at West Plains, the others were brought to a Springfield hospital, where one—John Lashore, 38, of Holly Springs, Miss.—was reported to be in critical condition.

The driver of the mail car, Joseph Huchaby, and his assistant, Clinton Fugate, both of nearby Pomona, escaped with minor bruises.

The Weather

Missouri—Generally fair Sunday, except light rain or snow in extreme southeast in the morning. Warmer Sunday. High temperatures, mid-50's; northwest, to mid-40's; southeast, increasing cloudiness; slightly warmer north and central Sunday night. Cloudy and much colder Monday with light snow in north.

St. Louisian's License Plate To President

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—(P)—Dr. Francis M. Hayden, St. Louis dentist who asked for an received Missouri state auto license plate No. 5745 because that is his house number, gave it up today so that President Truman may have it.

The President, who had turned down an offer for License No. 1 because he thought it would be too conspicuous for his family car, recently expressed a desire for that plate because it stands for the date on which Germany surrendered—5-7-45. Dr. Hayden had been in possession of the license plate since early in January.

National Boy Scout Week Opens Today

Full Program
Of Activities
In This City

This week is National Boy Scout Week and local officials of the Boy Scouts have planned a full program for Sedalia, opening Monday night with a pot luck supper to be served at the State Guard Armory, Ninth street and Ohio avenue, starting at 6:30 o'clock. The supper is for Scouts, parents, and those interested in scouting.

H. C. Rethwisch, Fayette, executive secretary of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker on the program. Mr. Rethwisch, who has been a great follower of Scouting, is well versed on the subject and his message is expected to be one of real interest.

Monday at noon a program has been arranged for the Rotary Club at which members of Harry Lambirth's troop will give a short program.

Talk On Air Scouting
Tuesday noon Lieut. W. W. Brock, U. S. Army Air Corps, will be in Sedalia at which time he will give a talk on the Air Scouting program. This meeting will be presided over by John Ryan and will be held at the Bothwell hotel. Those interested in this program can make reservations with Mr. Ryan at the recorder of deeds office in the court house.

Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock a meeting will be held at the court house at which time Lieut. Brock will speak on the Boy Scout program of Air Scouting, giving additional information. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Talk at Lions Club
Wednesday at the noon-day meeting of the Lion's Club, Lawrence D. "Larry" Jones, secretary of the Missouri Osteopathic Association, also a leader in scouting, will be the principal speaker. He is well known in scouting circles in Missouri and is a talented speaker.

Thursday noon at the Kiwanis Club Arthur Schlumbohn, also a state-wide booster of Boy Scouting will be the principal speaker on the program. Members of Harry Lambirth's troop will give a ten minute program preceding the speaking.

It has been pointed out that Air Scouting is new to this section, but much interest is being created in this scout activity. Air scouting combines two great ideas. It has to do with "the air" and the air age which is upon us. It is also "scouting" with all the fine traditions of loyal citizenship and practical service which characterize the scout movement.

Both the air scout and his adult leader are parts of senior scouting, developed to serve young men of fifteen years of age and older with an attractive program of group activities.

Republicans Get Together In St. Louis

James P. Kem, of
Kansas City, Front
Senatorial Runner

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—(P)—Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) defined the issue of the 1946 political campaigns tonight as a struggle between "the Democratic or Extreme Radical Party" and the Republican party's "determined opposition."

He said the Truman administration "by word and act has placed itself far to the left, farther to the left than its own best statesmen can conscientiously go, and has manifested its intention to force this country toward communism, state socialism, or some other ism which shall change this republic into something else that is not a republic x x x."

Halleck made his remarks in a speech prepared for the first Lincoln Day banquet of Missouri Republicans since the war.

He singled out President Truman and National Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan as the two gentlemen from Missouri who, he said, were responsible for chaos in the Democratic party.

Within industry and "chaos, worry and privation within millions of families throughout America."

He said the Republican party was not a party of the past but would stand on this challenge:

"Shall radical mercenaries of unlimited power disrupt the lives and ruin the heritage of Americans or shall an aroused and united people drive them from their high places back into the darkness from which they came?"

As chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee, Halleck had predicted earlier a G. O. P. upswing would give his party a working majority in the house this year.

Interest In Senatorial Candidates
Halleck's address, part of which was broadcast (CBS and KWK), climaxed a two-day party festival where speculation about a United States senatorial candidate got top play in the lobbies, although no formal announcements had developed by nightfall.

James P. Kem, Kansas City attorney, was the front runner in the early talk but he said he would have no announcement today.

Kem was reported to have the promise of strong St. Louis backing if he could muster a united Jackson County delegation behind his candidacy but rural elements in the pre-campaign discussions were said to be withholding their support in the hope of digging up an outside candidate to tangle with U. S. Senator Frank P. Briggs of Macon, the Democratic incumbent.

As new officers took over the Missouri Association of Republicans, sponsoring the big annual event, Richard C. Jensen of Kansas City moved up to the presidency and Rep. R. J. King, Jr., of St. Clair succeeded him as treasurer—the line of succession traditional in the group.

Queen Mary Is Due In Today

ABOARD THE S. S. QUEEN MARY AT SEA, Feb. 9.—(P)—The Queen Mary sped at a 23-knot pace today on the last lap of her journey with British wives and children of American service men and was scheduled to arrive at her New York pier at noon Sunday.

Because of the strike of tugboat workers, U. S. army tugs will nose the liner into the pier, it was announced. The gangplank will drop at 1 p. m. (EST), to disembark civilian passengers. The first 500 wives, all of whom will live within a radius of 200 miles of New York, are scheduled to go ashore at 6 p. m.

The remainder of the wives and children will stay aboard overnight. These are expected to be landed by 9:30 p. m. Monday. Once the wives and children land they will start journeys which will take them to every state in the union.

At noon today the liner was about 500 miles off New York and was proceeding through relatively calm seas. The weather was cool.

Filibusters Won Their Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—Filibustering southerners won their fight against the bill for a permanent fair employment practices commission today and the senate laid it aside for other business. Backers of the measure said they will try again periodically.

It would take a majority vote of the chamber to get the FEPC measure back on the floor, where it has been since Jan. 17.

The decision came on a senate roll call, 48 for and 36 against a motion to limit debate on the bill to set up a regular agency to police industry and government against discrimination on account of race or creed.

Both Parties Appear Solidly Behind 2,700,000 New Homes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—Blueprints for America's biggest home-building job—2,700,000 in two years—met wide acclaim today and a let's-get-going attitude in congress and the construction industry.

With the program less than a day old, both Republicans and Democrats in congress appeared solidly behind most of the plan. Some of them already were pitching into the legislative end, but the proposal for price ceilings on old homes and building lots was far from having universal support.

Messages offering warm praise and offers of cooperation poured in on Housing Administrator Wilson S. Wyatt, who drew up the plan, and on President Truman, who endorsed an announced it. They came from housing, labor and farm organizations, from mayors, veterans, and individuals. The program calls for building some $16,000,000,000 worth of new homes in the next two years, mostly by private firms. Most of the houses would sell for no more than $6,000 or rent for no more than $50 a month.

To accomplish it, Wyatt said there would be needed a tremendous expansion in the output of building materials, three times the labor force now working on home construction, and, in some cases, government subsidies for wages and prices.

Both Parties Interested In City Election

Bagby And Finnell
Candidates For
Mayor, Police Chief

City politics in Sedalia probably was never warmer than at the present, especially as far ahead of city caucuses, conventions and the election, which this year is on Tuesday April 2. Leaders in both the Republican and Democratic parties are getting their heads together to determine who will make the best candidates to submit to the voting public.

Mayor A. H. Wilks, definitely is a candidate, and if nominated will head the Republican ticket. However, some of the leaders in the Republican Party are divided as to whether Wilks should seek reelection and have gone so far as to mention other candidates.

James Franks, chief clerk of the Pettis County Rationing Board, is being boosted by a number of friends as the Republican candidate for Mayor. Franks, is commander of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, and a veteran of World War I and had a son in World War II.

In the Democratic party, various party leaders had discussed with each other names that might be presented to the Democratic convention as the head of their ticket. All agreed that if former Mayor Julian H. Bagby would accept he would be their choice, and they were of the same opinion for Chief of Police, wanting the present Chief Anson Finnell to seek reelection.

Mr. Bagby only recently stated he was not interested and did not personally care to seek re-election, but would support the candidate chosen.

Agreed To Run
Chief of Police Finnell, several weeks ago said he did not believe he would be a candidate, desiring to take a rest and possibly seek another office at a later date, but he now pledged his support to any candidate the party chose.

Friday various party leaders called on Mr. Bagby and Chief Finnell and asked if they would permit them to place their names before the convention, which will be March 16. After much discussion both men announced they would be candidates for the offices of Mayor and Chief of Police respectively. With this announcement, there appeared party harmony.

After the two men gave their consent to become candidates for the nominations, others declared they would seek other places on the ticket.

Republicans Active
There is no doubt that the Republican party leaders will meet this week and discuss their strongest candidates and will soon give out the names of those they expect to be their candidates, whose names will be presented to the Republican convention on March 16.

Charles P. Keck, present City Collector, has announced he would seek re-election on the Republican ticket. William Igenfritz, City Attorney, indicated Saturday he would probably be a candidate for re-election, but also gave an indication he might seek the Republican nomination for Prosecuting Attorney in August.

The Democrats have Ed Gorman, present City Assessor, who has announced he would seek reelection; Mrs. George F. Boothe, City Treasurer, has told various friends she desired re-election; (Please Turn To Page 4 Col. 4)

Charge Russia Has Trade Bloc

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—A house committee put forth today the suggestion that free trade with eastern Europe be made a part of the deal in any loan to Russia.

The group, a special committee on post-war economic policy, said loan discussions with the United States "are now going on on the basis of $1,000,000,000," and said $6,000,000,000 was discussed at one time.

Asserting that the Soviet Union has formed a political and economic bloc that gives it tight control over the trade with eastern European countries, the committee said the arrangement has made trade with other nations extremely difficult.

It suggested that an agreement for lifting of trade barriers be reached by any nations making loans to Russia. It named Finland, Romania, Hungary, Poland and Czechoslovakia as included in the Russian trade orbit.

Act To Avoid An Epidemic

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(P)—The board of health today ordered the seizure of any building in New York necessary for use as a hospital in a move to meet what it said was "a state of great, imminent and increasing peril" to the health of the city's millions.

The action came as persons seeking priorities to purchase fuel oil, cut off from the city by the six-day-old tugboat strike thronged police headquarters where an emergency ration board began operations at noon.

Rigid rationing of existing stocks of fuel oil was ordered by Mayor William O'Dwyer to avoid what he called a possible "epidemic of respiratory illness and disease."

Board of health members said that if the fuel shortage were not relieved, there would be "discomfort, distress and suffering and an increase in illness and deaths, particularly among infants, the infirm and the aged."

Stalin Sets Goals For Production

Announces New
Five-Year Plan,
Predicts Soviets
Will Go Forward

By TOM WILLIAMS

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(P)—Generalissimo Stalin, declaring the last two wars resulted from the development of capitalist world economy, tonight announced a new five-year plan for Soviet Russia and stupendous production goals "to guarantee our country against any eventuality."

He predicted, too, that Soviet scientists could "not only catch up with but surpass those abroad." He did not mention atomic research specifically.

Stalin said the new five-year plan—Russia's fourth including the one interrupted by German invasion in 1941—would be inaugurated soon, and "for the further future" set goals for steel, pig iron, coal and oil production close to the output of the United States.

In a pre-election speech broadcast by the Moscow radio, the Soviet chieftain promised that "soon rationing will end," and that the Russian worker's standard of living would be raised.

Blames Capitalism
Declaring that the war was "the inevitable result of the development of the world economic and political forces on the basis of monopoly capitalism," Stalin asserted:

"Perhaps the catastrophe of war could have been avoided if the possibility of periodic redistribution of raw materials and markets between the countries existed in accordance with their economic needs, in the way of coordinated and peaceful decisions."

"But this is impossible under the present capitalist development of world economy. Thus as a result of the first crisis in the development of the capitalist world economy the first war arose. The second world war arose as a result of the second crisis." Stalin, making his first speech since last Sept. 2, spoke for 56 minutes on the eve of elections for the supreme Soviet. He spoke in the district where he is a candidate for reelection.

Set A Goal
He called for an industrial output of 50,000,000 tons of pig iron a year, 60,000,000 tons of steel, 500,000,000 tons of coal, and 60,000,000 tons of oil.

When these goals are reached, "only then can we consider our country guaranteed against any eventuality," he said.

(The Statesman's yearbook of 1945 said Russia's estimated production in 1941, last available year, was 18,000,000 tons of pig iron, 22,000,000 tons of steel, 191,000,000 tons of coal, and 38,000,000 tons of oil. The American Iron and Steel Institute gave U. S. production of pig iron in 1944 as 61,007,000 tons and steel as 89,641,000 tons. The U. S. Bureau of Mines reported U. S. production of coal and coke in 1944 as 683,700,000 tons.)

Soviet System Popular
Stalin, recalling foreign predictions that the Russian state was doomed to failure, declared the test of war had shown "that our Soviet system is popular, has grown out of the people, is capable of life and is a solid organization of society. The question is no longer whether the Soviet system can endure x x x."

"Now the question is that the Soviet system is more virtuous than any other, that it is the best system, better than any non-Soviet one x x x."

"Now it is a question of the Soviet system being one by which the national problem is solved better than by any other."

Restoration Necessary
"Now for the immediate future," he said, "the main thing is the new five-year plan which soon is to be confirmed. Its main task is to restore areas that suffered, to restore prewar level, and then considerably surpass it."

"Soon rationing will be abolished."

"Particular attention will be devoted to raising the standard of life of the working people by systematically reducing the cost of production of all goods."

"Secondly, we are building on a large scale scientific research institutes to enable science to develop. I have no doubt that if we help our scientists, they will not only catch up with but surpass those abroad."

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Of the many officer-enlisted men inequities which have contributed to poor army morale, one of the least-known, but most unfair, is the system of brass-hat disability payments.

Under this system, a full colonel who never moved out of his chair in the Pentagon building during the war may be declared "totally disabled" if he is suffering only from ulcers brought on by too much celebrating in Washington night spots. In this case, the "disabled" colonel would be placed on the retired list and draw three-fourths of his base pay, or $250 a month, for the rest of his life. If he has three years' service, a longevity allowance would increase his pay to $262.50 a month. Furthermore, and this is one of the nicest pay-offs, which most people don't realize, this payment is tax exempt.

Now, let's consider an enlisted man who lost his right arm in combat and is, therefore, very seriously disabled. According to law, the Veterans Administration pays this man a pension of $125 a month. Enlisted men's pension scales for other disabilities are: Loss of both legs or both hands—$200 a month; loss of one leg above the knee—from $104 to $138.50 a month; pulmonary tuberculosis, insanity, and body wounds not involving an anatomical loss—$115 a month.

The colonel who was declared "totally disabled" because of ulcers may get well in six months' time, but he continues to receive full retirement pay for life, because he is not required to undergo any subsequent physical examinations after retirement. He just keeps on drawing his money.

However, it's a different story with G.I.s. A GI with tuberculosis, neuro-psychiatric condition, or any other service-connected disability from which he may recover, must undergo an examination once a year. His pension is reduced according to his improvement, and it may be stopped entirely if the doctors declare him cured.

Colonels totally disabled in combat get no more retirement pay than the swivel-chair colonel with ulcers. Furthermore, the latter can get another job in civilian life and supplement his pension, while the man who loses an arm or a leg sometimes can't.

It is high time Congress began looking into the army's pension system and—more to the point—did something about it.

Ambassadorial Voter!

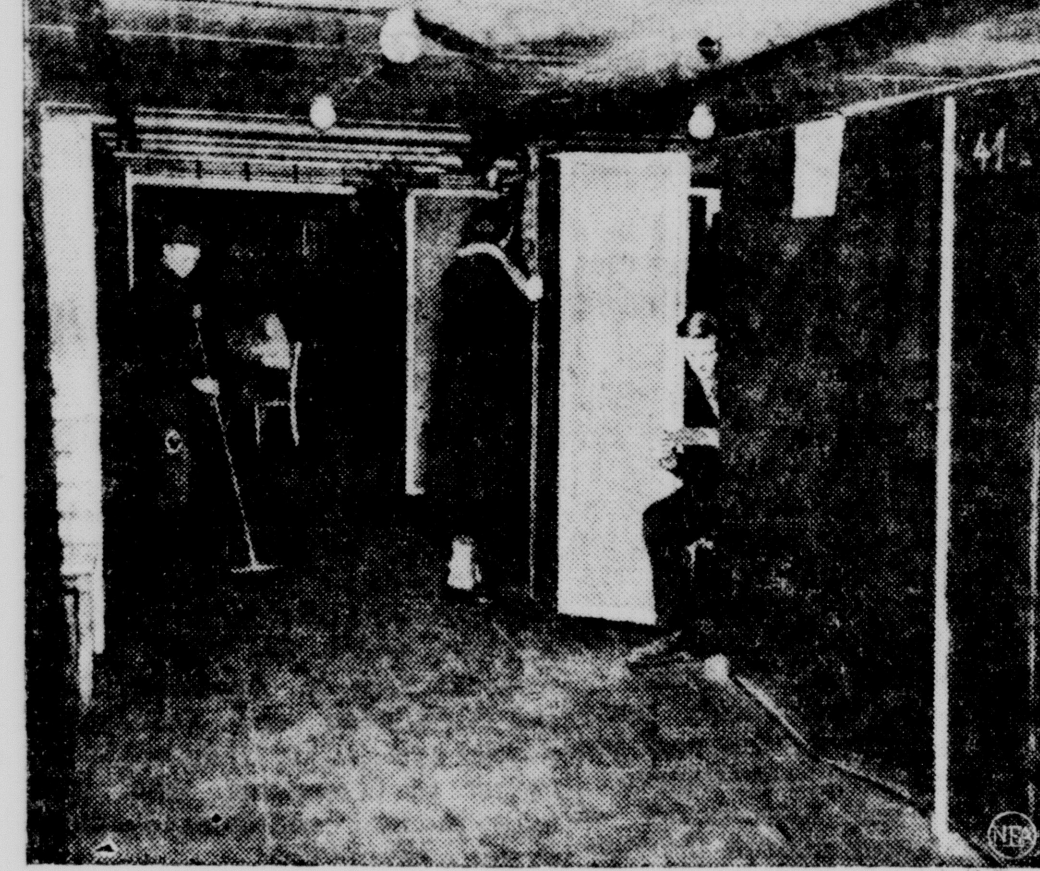

U. S. Ambassador Lincoln McVeagh, a nephew of Mr. Roosevelt, is now keeping an eye on the impending Greek elections—though some observers claim a jaundiced eye.

Mrs. McVeagh thinks Crown Princess Frederica is such a lovely person, despite the fact that her brothers were officers in Hitler's army. The ambassador, however,

Raid Shelters House German 'Cave Dwellers'

Today housing space in Frankfurt, Germany, is about as scarce as "Heil, Hitler" and home hungry Frankforters have been driven underground to find living quarters. A chain of former air raid shelters under the bomb-wrecked city is being turned into hostels. Photos here are views of the "Hotel Cabin" under the main railroad station. At left, above, guests enter and emerge from the concrete "lobby." After formal registration, they check their valuables, as at right, above, and are shown to their "rooms." is supposed to see that the Sophoulis government—kept in power by the British—does not stack the election against Greek left wing parties.

Not very long ago, one of the ambassador's aids came to him with ten registration cards issued by the Sophoulis-British government to entitle their holders to vote. McVeagh hastily glanced through them and pulled out four cards.

"But these four are Greek-Americans we sent back to the United States months ago to be drafted into the American army," McVeagh said.

"Yes," his aid agreed. "In all, nine of these cards bear the names of Greek-Americans whose travel back to America this embassy has recently authorized." (Yet they were still registered to vote for the British-Sophoulis government.)

"What about the tenth?" McVeagh asked.

"You didn't look close enough," the aid replied, holding out the card so that the ambassador could read the name in which it was issued. It read: Lincoln McVeagh.

A Fat Anthony Eden
British members of Parliament don't see much difference between the imperialist foreign policy of the Conservative party and the new Labor government.

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida was lunching at the House of Commons, following a speech by Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin which had upheld the very same policies as his predecessor, Anthony Eden. From one table of Conservatives near him—and he thinks the speaker was former Prime Minister Winston Churchill—Pepper heard this remark:

"I sat and listened to that speech and I thought to myself, 'My, how

Bilbo's Friends Desert
There was more behind the resignation of Ed Terry, secretary to garrulous Senator Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi, than the ill health which he reported to the press.

Actually, Terry was sick from overwork, trying to hold down three jobs at once, but also he was very sick of his race-baiting boss.

Terry told friends that he feared the widespread criticism of Bilbo's demagogic antics might be injurious to his own future career after the Mississippi voters finally turn Bilbo out to pasture. There is a chance such might happen this year when the talkative senator comes up against ex-Congressman Ross Collins in a stiff primary race.

Terry has been functioning as clerk of the Senate District committee and the joint National Memorial Stadium commission—now studying a proposed all-weather, closed-in, $25,000,000 athletic stadium for the District of Columbia. After a rest, he may take a job with a group of New York bankers interested in financing the stadium.

These bankers evidently see eye-to-eye with Terry on Bilbo, for they have quietly been pulling wires to get the latter ousted as chairman of the stadium commission, and Senator Jim Mead of New York named in his stead.

Capital Chaff
The admirals can't say so publicly, but they are up in arms over Ed Pauley's appointment as under secretary of the navy. Chief reason: word has gone round that Pauley is for amalgamation of the armed forces. . . . The Democrats are out to raise $1,000,000 to finance this year's congressional campaign. Hundred-dollar Jackson Day dinners served on gold service will kick off the drive. President Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., will be the principal speakers at the Washington rally, March 23. . . . There has been a sharp drop in the number of so-called "operation" flights by officers stationed at Andrews Field, Washington, D. C., since enlisted men staged a protest against being kept in the army to service planes for generals' joy-rides. . . . Some politicians predict that the conviction of Mayor James Curley of Boston may endanger reelection of five-term Democratic Senator David Walsh. Friends of President Truman haven't forgotten that Walsh snubbed Truman during the 1944 campaign, and now it's probable that the Curley machine will go Republican this year, thus taking away some of Walsh's support.

The Doctor Says Pneumonia Usually Easy To Recognize

BY WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Chill, fever, pain in the chest and cough with expectation of "rusty" sputum are the usual signs of pneumonia when it is caused by the pneumococcus (pneumonia germ). True epidemics of pneumonia are rare as most infections are contracted from healthy carriers in the family or place of employment and not from other cases.

Pneumococci, the most common disease-producing bacteria in the temperate zone, exists as harmless parasites in the throat of man and many animals until they invade susceptible tissues and produce virulent infections. The lungs as well as other organs of the body can be infected by the pneumococcus.

Greatest susceptibility to pneumonia occurs in the young and in the aged, but it accounts for half the fatalities in the prime of life. Men and women are equally susceptible to pneumonia when they are living and working under comparable conditions, but more cases develop in men because of greater occupational exposure which lowers resistance.

Fatigue Favors Infection
Fatigue followed by chilling after profuse perspiration favors the development of pneumococcal infections. Other factors are malnutrition, sudden drop in temperature, exposure to cold and dampness and previous attacks. Pneumonia is more prevalent in the cities because of less favorable living and working conditions.

Pneumonia has a tendency to repeat, but relapses are not common as second and third attacks usually represent infections with other pneumonia germs. Severity of repeat infections depends on the character of the germ and the condition of the patient.

Pneumonia is usually not difficult to recognize and a physician should be called for any patient who has chill, fever, cough, and pain in the side. At times pneumonia does not start in this fashion as it may appear to be nothing more than a hard cold which does not improve.

X-Ray Aids Diagnosis
Great advances in the diagnosis of pneumonia have come from the use of the X-ray in examining the chest as it may reveal pneumonia when it cannot be detected in other ways. Expectoration of "rusty" sputum occurring in a patient with an acute respiratory infection is rarely observed in any other disease than pneumonia.

The first essential in the care of a patient with pneumonia is good nursing, as he must be kept quiet, comfortable and properly fed. Oxygen is administered to relieve distress. Oxygen, sulfa drugs and penicillin are the mainstays in the treatment of pneumonia. Although still a dangerous disease, modern methods of management have reduced the death rate from 25 per cent to about 5 per cent.

THE STORY: Betsy admits to Nana that she has spent the day with Pen Downes. Pen needs her, she says. She shrugs off Nana's query about Travers, who has loved Betsy since childhood. Nana reminds Betsy that Downes has a wife, even if he doesn't live with her.

VIII
BETSY'S face flushed. "I know Pen isn't any plaster saint, Nana, but if he had a wife who was interested in what he was doing, he would be different, I know."

I said, "Do you think you are everything he wants, Betsy?" Her head went up proudly, "I know I am."

I said, "And this wife in Connecticut, Betsy. Do you think she was once everything he wanted?" She said, "He's changed. His ideas have matured. He wants something real from a woman; something more than just the wish to be Mrs. Penfield Downes."

I said, "Do you think he'll change again?" She bit her lip and didn't answer me.

"Why doesn't he get a divorce?" I asked.

Betsy looked at me surprised. "I've just told you. She likes being Mrs. Penfield Downes. She wouldn't hear of it."

I started to say, "Do you believe that, Betsy?" but I stopped before I said it and made a fool out of myself. For wasn't that the very thing we were saying about Philippa? The old saying about the view depending upon where you stand went through my head. Where Fletch was involved the situation looked one way; where Penfield Downes was involved it looked another.

I said, "Betsy, do you love Pen Downes?" She flung up her head. "Yes," she said, and she was terribly proud to say it aloud.

"And he you?" I asked.

She said softly, "Yes, I know he does." She flung her arms high and threw back her head. "He has told me a hundred times, in a hundred different ways."

I SAID, and I hated myself for it and for the edge that crept into my voice, "Did he ever tell you in a simple sentence that couldn't be misunderstood?" She looked at me. "I've just told you," she said shortly, "that Pen loves me. I know."

I said, "As your brother Fletch loves Dru Ellis?" She swung around, startled. She said, "What do you mean?" "Just that," I said. "Fletch loves Dru so much that until the day Philippa releases him, he will never speak of it. Never so much as touch her hand." Under my breath, I added, "Again." It wasn't quite the truth I was telling, but something had to be done. "When a man loves a woman dearly, Betsy, he wants to come to her with clean hands and an open heart. When he merely covets her youth and beauty, when she is merely a conquest to satisfy his ego, he comes to her with flattery and easy guesses. Fletch loves Dru with all his heart."

Betsy was still shaken. "Fletch and Dru," she said. "I never guessed."

I thought to myself, "There's something to think about, young lady." I hoped I had started a train of thought which might counteract the one that Mr. Penfield Downes had started.

But I wasn't sure. When Fletch had said, "We can't go on this way," it had been Dru who said, "There is no other way for us." I wondered if Betsy, who was so fiercely loyal and so much more tender, had the strength to answer that way. Certainly Pen Downes would not respond as had Fletch to that same answer.

Betsy's reaction, which came very swiftly, was totally different, however, from what I might have hoped.

She left my room abruptly, saying, "I must dress. We're going to Ann Quillman's for dinner." I knew who was meant by "we." At the door she turned and asked, "Will it disturb you if I leave the doors open? It is so hot."

I SHOOK my head and settled back in my chair. I must have dozed off, for I was startled to hear Betsy call out from her room. "Will it disturb you if I leave the doors open? It is so hot."

I heard Betsy's door open and close and then Phil's voice sounding as usual as though it needed defrosting. "Well?"

Betsy's voice was warm with her intensity. "Phil, why don't you divorce Fletch?"

The ice was gone from Phil's voice, too, when she answered. "I like your nerve, Betsy. What right do you have to ask me that?"

Betsy's voice rushed on, "You don't want him, Phil. You don't care anything about him. If you ever had a spark of affection for him at all, let him be happy."

"Let him be happy!" Phil repeated. "What about me?" Her voice rose shrilly. "Oh, I get it. It doesn't matter about me. I'm not a Willson."

Betsy replied slowly, "But you are a Willson, and it does matter about you, Phil. You aren't happy either. You can't be. You would be much happier living some other way, and Daddy would see that you had enough to live on."

Philippa laughed, "You know, Betsy, you have a hell of a nerve talking like this, but I think for the first time I like you. You're honest enough to admit that what I do now matters because I'm in the Willson clan, and you offer to buy me off! The rest of the God-Almighty Willsons wouldn't stoop to such low bargaining."

Diary of the Diaper Cruise

Bobby Jewell, winner of the ship's "Cutey" contest for the 1 to 3 age group, shows how he won as mother bathes him.

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

ABOARD S. S. ARGENTINA—

(NEA)—Aboard ship, Jan. 28—Everyone is beginning to settle down but lots of the brides are still sick. Only about 20 per cent show up for breakfast this morning, and for many it's only a brave gesture.

The first sitting of breakfast, which is at 7:30, is hardly over before the public address system is calling: "We want the mother of a boy of about two, blond hair, wearing yellow overalls and a green sweater. He is lost, mother."

So many children have strayed that orders are given for mothers to write name tags and cabin numbers on adhesive tape and stick it on the nape of toddlers' necks.

The Red Cross passes out more than 100 pairs of slacks, figuring they are more sensible than skirts on this sort of trip. Ninety per cent of the brides show up wearing sweaters and skirts. Most of these brides have figures better adapted to sweaters than to slacks.

The sweaters and skirts provide the only uniformity. The girls come from every geographical section and every social background in the United Kingdom. There are colonels' ladies and buck privates' wives. Some are married to soldiers and some to sailors. Many are attractive, many are not.

Mrs. Louisa Grindle, St. Joseph, Mo., with Jeannette on her arm and Bobby in tow, leans in sailor fashion to manipulate rocking corridors. This was mothers' greatest hazard on rough trip.

The Red Cross gives knitting needles and yarn to any who want them. The rush exhausts the supply in a few minutes. I was surprised that so many English mothers knew how to knit. Mrs. William Larimer, who is going to Geneseo, Illinois, explained: "We hadn't enough clothing points to dress ourselves or our children if we didn't know how to knit."

The ship post exchange opened after lunch today for the first time, and the girls form a line extending half a deck to get their first crack in six years at real nail polish, real lipstick and unrationed chocolate.

I found two sad faces in line. Mrs. William Holt, Riverside, N. J., got up to the counter, bought lustily, and then decided she was already too nearly seasick to be tempted even by sweet milk chocolate.

Another bride was crushed to find no English Gold Flake cigarettes available. When I suggested she'd better start getting used to American brands, she replied tartly: "No fear of that. I'll pack up smoking first!"

The first two afternoons cocoa was served in the lounge. Today the brides got that changed—this afternoon it's tea!

All Are Tired
Generally speaking they have been overwhelmed with the variety and quantity of the food served them. The only complaints concerned the bread. After six years of a grayish "national loaf" our white bread seemed "much too sweet, like cake."

Jan. 29—The brides are beginning to find their sea legs, but every one is very tired including this correspondent. The ship is one continual din from early morning to late night.

The days begin whenever the first baby in your cabin (or the cabins on either side of yours) starts crying. They are one long, discordant cacophony until late at night when the last baby runs down.

In between cries there is a never-ending blare of music over the ship's public address system. The system, named "WARG," is supposed to resemble a radio broadcast. But you can shut off a radio!

It wouldn't be so bad if there were one place where one could get away from whimpering infants, whooping toddlers, wailing WARG and whooping adults. On the entire vessel there is no such sanctuary. In the reconversion of this ship, troop bunks were torn out of only two public lounges. One is being used as a nursery, decked out with a dozen play pens. Unfortunately it's forward on the promenade deck—the roughest spot on the ship.

As a result most mothers keep their children in the other lounge. It does not make for peace and quiet.

Cute Kids
This afternoon, after a false start yesterday, the "Cutey Contest" brings scores of scrubbed but screaming youngsters into this lounge. The contest originally was scheduled to be a beauty contest. At the last minute, however, the judges decided less jealousy would be stirred if it became a "Cute Contest." Losing mothers then could console themselves with the thought that junior was most beautiful, even if yowling his head off.

The winners in the three classes turn out to be: Under one year, Barbara Moncrief, 11-month-old daughter of former sergeant S. E. Moncrief, Jr., Whittsburg, Ky.; one-to-three years, Robert Jewell, 1, son of Robert Jewell, Minneapolis, Minn.; and over three, Mark Olley, stepson of Richard D. Siff, Nyack, N. Y.

This evening, as usual, the community singing turns out to be the most popular of the day's mass activities. The girls astound me by knowing the words to obscure western ballads.

The day ends with a movie, "Rhapsody in Blue." Even here there is no escape from the never-ending, nerve-shattering noise which is the outstanding recollection of every day so far. In the middle of the "Summertime" number, old faithful WARG breaks in to announce: "Mrs. X, of cabin 642. Your baby needs you."

Bryson PTA Meeting
A committee to nominate new officers, composed of Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Audrey Walkup and Mrs. Ross Marshall, was appointed at a recent meeting of Bryson Parent-Teacher organization.

Mrs. Edith Lewis presented Mrs. M. E. Green, second vice president of the state organization, who spoke on "Founders' Day" and led a short program and games.

A pot luck supper was served.

Fur Coat Missing
Elsie Southard, 1225 Spring street, reported to the police early today that her short chubby fur coat was stolen from her automobile while parked at Third street and Massachusetts avenue. She stated the car had been locked, but the coat was missing.

Suits Him

Partly to solve the clothing shortage problem and partly to speed up his dressing, Jack Denst of Chicago designed a one-piece suit for himself. Above, his sister, Mrs. Betty Voss, who made it up for him, gives him a fitting. Denst says he can sleep eight minutes longer each morning, thanks to the suit.

Undergoes Operation In Hollywood

Verne Gould, of Sixth street and Moniteau avenue recently underwent an operation at a hospital in Hollywood, Calif., is still in a serious condition, but the attending physicians are very hopeful for his recovery, according to word received from Mrs. Gould to friends here today.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould had gone to Hollywood to supervise a money raising campaign for a civic organization, and he became ill while there. They are residing at 2026 North Highland, Hollywood (28) Calif.

There Is Now $743.22 In The Eckles Fund

Visitor From The Ozarks Is Among Contributors

The Cpl. William C. Eckles fund by Saturday noon contained $743.22, not reaching the $1,000 goal anticipated by the sponsoring group, War Mothers Club No. 2, however it is known that checks were mailed by several organizations too late for the week-end tabulation.

An outstanding visitor in Sedalia last week, Mrs. May Kennedy McCord, "First Lady of the Ozarks," a resident of Springfield, contributed to the fund complementing Sedalia on its endeavor to help a native son.

Mrs. McCord is familiar with the work done for war veterans at O'Reilly general hospital where Cpl. Eckles is undergoing treatment. A visitor in Sedalia on several previous occasions, Mrs. McCord declared that our interests are her interests, saying that "in the raising of this fund for the future of Cpl. Eckles you are revealing your selves as typical Missourians, for to help one another is one of our state characteristics. You will find this same spirit of neighborliness in our own Missouri Ozarks noted far and wide for their close community life."

Back In Springfield

Cpl. Eckles has returned to Springfield for further treatment of his left arm, crippled from burns which also caused the loss of his right arm. The current Life magazine, in an illustrated article pictures skin grafting and other remarkable means of aiding the wounded, giving the public an idea of some of the things endured by the soldiers. It also shows the splicing and grafting of new muscles, which is part of the restoration work to be undergone by Cpl. Eckles.

The veteran's address at O'Reilly hospital was obtained for those who would like to send him a personal card or letter of good cheer. It is "Cpl. William C. Eckles, 207469303, O'Reilly General Hospital, Detachment of Patients, Springfield, Mo."

Upon receiving the first lists of contributors to the fund for his future, Eckles expressed his deep appreciation to his fellow Sedalians and Pettis countians.

Glad To Be Alive

"I am so grateful just to be alive," he said, "that no handicap can dull my joy, in looking at my small son, Terry" (age three). He remarked that he is very lucky to get to come home to see his loved ones, that he had many buddies who had youngsters at home they had never seen, and now never will.

Another list of contributors will be sent to Cpl. Eckles the middle of the week, and those wishing to be on this list should have their contributions in to members of the War Mothers club or the Chamber of Commerce by Tuesday afternoon, the committee in charge of the project announced.

Bradley Wires To Facility

WADSWORTH, Kas., Feb. 9.—(P)—Lt. Col. F. M. Cook, manager of the Wadsworth Veterans Administration hospital, said tonight he had received a telegram from General Omar N. Bradley defending treatment of non-service connected disabilities.

The veterans administrator, according to Cook, referred in his wire to Charges by John Stelle, American Legion head, that thousands of patients with non-service connected ailments would be dismissed from V. A. hospitals.

"These charges," the wire read "are absolutely without any foundation in truth, and there is a great danger they will cause unnecessary fear and anxiety among sick veterans and their families. "Under the law priority must be given service connected cases, but non-service connected cases will be hospitalized wherever possible.

"I have not and will not advocate any change in the law to provide for hospital service for service connected cases only.

"We aren't dismissing non-service connected cases of any character from hospitals as long as there is a need for hospitalization."

Dog Has Rabies

TONGANOXIE, Kas., Feb. 9.—(P)—Mayor A. P. Laughlin said tonight he had been informed by a Kansas City laboratory that a dog which attacked several persons here Thursday was rabies infected.

The dog bit three girl grade school pupils during a morning recess period, and later attacked two women. All have begun rabies treatments.

Son Named David Jeffrey

The name David Jeffrey has been given to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Hunt of Dallas, Texas, who was born on February 2. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are former Sedalians and have been residing in Dallas since October.

Major Leola Reese, Women's Army Corps, now on terminal leave and visiting her mother, Mrs. Jincy Reese and her sister, Mrs. J. B. Dunham, of route 4, Sedalia. She has been in charge of the WAC unit at Pine Bluff, Ark. Major Reese plans to engage in the drug business in Tulsa, Okla.

Placed Poles Beneath Them

NUERNBERG, Feb. 9.—(P)—Adolf Hitler envisaged the Germans as the sole master of an enslaved Polish people to be kept in perpetual ignorance, the Soviet prosecution declared today at the war crimes trial of former Nazi leaders.

Notes on a conference on Oct. 2, 1940, with Hitler taken by his missing deputy, Martin Bormann, who is being tried in absentia, were submitted to the international military tribunal by Col. Y. I. Pokrovsky, deputy Soviet prosecutor.

Bormann wrote that Hitler stressed that "there should be only one master for the Poles—the Germans," and that "all representatives of the Polish intelligence are to be exterminated."

Hitler was quoted as saying that the Poles must not be raised to a higher level than that of laborers "for they will become anarchists and Communists x x x priests will be paid by us, and will in return preach what we wish them to preach. If any priest acts differently we will make short work of him. The work of the priest is to keep the Poles quite stupid and dullwitted x x x

"The lowest German workman and the lowest German peasant must always stand economically 10 per cent above any Pole."

Churchill To White House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—Winston Churchill, who held several momentous war conferences at the White House during 1941-43, is returning here tomorrow for a quiet, peaceful talk with President Truman.

He is flying here in an army plane from Miami, Fla., where he and his wife have been spending a vacation for several weeks at the home of Col. Frank W. Clarke.

The wartime British Prime Minister returned to Miami yesterday after spending a week in Cuba.

British embassy officials said his plane would arrive at the National Airport some time after 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Churchill, now government opposition leader in Commons, will spend the afternoon at the embassy and call at the White House at 8:30 p. m.

At the embassy it was said Churchill would talk with the President about their projected flight March 5 to Fulton, Mo., where Churchill will address Westminster College after a Presidential introduction. What the British conservative leader will say in his speech will be a topic of conversation.

Calling For One-Year Truce

EL RENO, Okla., Feb. 9.—(P)—A resolution calling for a one-year truce on strikes so that full production can be achieved was adopted today by a committee representing 150 Canadian county farmers.

It was pointed out the year's truce would give labor and management time to settle their difficulties and still gain full production.

The resolution, to be sent to the Oklahoma congressional delegation, asked that ceiling prices on agricultural products be equalized to compensate the farmer for the rise in the price of labor.

The farmers took no action toward withholding products from market until labor and management reach an agreement and resume production of needed farm machinery. This move was started by a group of Grady county farmers two weeks ago.

An original resolution calling on the President and congress to use all their power to bring labor and management together was thrown out by the farmers.

A committee, with power to act for the entire group, was appointed to draw up a new resolution. However, it reinstated and adopted the old resolution with two amendments pertaining to the truce and price ceilings.

Appointed Division Chairman

Frank L. Hanigan, clerk district storekeeper's office Sedalia, Missouri, has been appointed division chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks Union (AFL) on the eastern division of the Missouri Pacific railroad, succeeding Charles R. White of Jefferson City.

Max Steindel, Famous Cellist, Will Be Guest Artist Here

Max Steindel, who is first cellist with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, has been engaged to appear as guest artist with the Sedalia Symphony orchestra at the concert scheduled for Monday night, February 18, I. H. Reed, chairman of the artists committee for the Sedalia orchestra, announced Saturday.

Steindel's name is prominently known in the concert halls of the United States and Europe. He began his musical education at the age of four and when he was seven and a half went on tour as the "wonder child," playing in London, Paris and other large European cities. The violinist later came to this country, first going to Seattle, Wash. He has been with the St. Louis Symphony for a number of years as principal cellist.

Conducts Little Symphony

During the winter seasons he accepts concert engagements when they can be fitted in with the busy schedule of Vladimir Golschmann's organization, and in the summer Steindel conducts the St. Louis Little Symphony.

The guest soloist's accompanist will be Miss Dorothy Ziegler, an accomplished musician, who, in addition to her piano work, plays first trombone with the St. Louis Symphony.

The forthcoming concert, to be presented in the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium, with Abe Rosenthal on the podium, will be the third of the 1945-46 series. Single admission tickets will be available to those who do not hold season subscription tickets.

Orchestral Offerings

For light orchestral offerings Conductor Rosenthal has chosen "Victor Herbert's Favorites," a medley of the composers tunes, and as a major presentation the orchestra will be heard in the Finale of Dvorak's Fifth Symphony.

A group of three numbers will be "Hill-Billy" by Morton Gould, and two selections from Ferde Grofe's "Mississippi Suite." The Overture from Mozart's "Magic Flute" will open the program.

A descendant of a family of celebrated musicians and son of the Royal Musical Director Alvin Steindel (known as "Father Steindel"), Max Steindel was born in Munchen - Gladbach, Province Rhineland, Germany.

Numerous Decorations

He has been honored with numerous decorations by the various Royal families, such as King Leopold of Belgium, Countess Vladimir of Russia, Countess Olga (sister of the former Czar of Russia), President Emil Loubet of France, King Ferdinand of Rumania, King Wilhelm II of Wurtemberg and many others.

Steindel became solo cellist of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra in 1912, he has continued in the post to the present, with the exception of three years, 1914-17, which were devoted to concert appearances. He was first cellist of the Detroit Symphony orchestra under the baton of the late Ossip Gabrilowitsch and other noted conductors at the Chicago Century of Progress during the summer of 1933. In 1921 he organized his own concert orchestra, subsequently founding a quartet, quintet and trio.

He has achieved brilliant successes as a guest conductor of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, and Toronto Summer Symphony orchestra as well as with his own Little Symphony. His name is well known in radio as well as in the concert world.

Both Parties Interested In City Election

Judge C. W. Bente, likewise the past week announced he was a candidate for re-election.

A Potential Candidate

William F. Brown, local attorney, who recently returned from India, and is an ex-Sergeant of the Army Air Corps, announced he was a potential candidate for the nomination on the Democratic ticket for City Attorney.

Ralph Baker, recently discharged from the U. S. Navy, a veteran of both World War I and of World War II, indicated he may seek the nomination for City Collector on the Democratic ticket, and friends of Mrs. Mabel Chambers, past president of the Pettis County Women's Democratic Club, indicated she may be a candidate.

Many Democrats in the First Ward are encouraging Virgil Corson, veteran of World War II, and a Sergeant, recently discharged, to be a candidate for Councilman from that ward. Mr. Corson owns and operates a grocery store at 811 West Main street.

In the Third Ward, John Taylor, present alderman, announced he would seek the nomination and re-election.

The fourth ward Democrats are seeking William Bunn, well known Democrat, and a ex-sergeant and veteran of World War II who was recently discharged from the service, to be their candidate for Councilman.

No Word From Second

The Second Ward apparently is having some difficulty in obtaining a candidate for the councilship, but several prominent names have been mentioned, however, no "yes" answers have been received, nor have any declined to say they would not entertain the idea.

Republican activity is buzzing, but quietly. With the Lincoln Day banquet in St. Louis, attended by a large group of the local leaders, politics on city affairs have been quiet the past few days. Indications are they will become rather hot and lively come this week.

GOP Veterans Have Election

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—Joseph Nolan of Kansas City was elected president of the Republican servicemen's league of Missouri today at an inaugurated his term by charging that President Truman was an office boy president.

"T. J. Pendergast said he could elect an office boy president—and he sure did," Nolan declared.

Tyree C. Derrick of St. Louis, the retiring president, was chosen national committeeman; A. D. Welsh, St. Louis, treasurer, and Marvel H. Davis, Kansas City, representative of the national committee.

Elected vice presidents—all of them veterans of World War II—were Henry A. Freytag, St. Louis; Crete Stumberg, St. Charles; G. C. Beckham, Steeleville; Jack Hoover, Trenton; Clifford Brown, St. Louis; Herbert Marty, Farmington, and John Jeffries, Hannibal.

In a resolution the veterans charged that the housing shortage was "caused partly by inadequate and half-baked domestic policies of the administration." They also criticized what they called the administration's "policy of appeasement and retreat" in foreign affairs.

To Battle For Principles

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 9.—(P)—Reiterating previously stated criticism of the nation's post-war procedure, Patrick J. Hurley, who served recently as ambassador to China, said today he would continue his battle for American principles.

"I have never yet stopped fighting, nor have I ever compromised on what I believe is right," he said.

The native Oklahoman, who rose to the rank of major general during the war, said that China was the only place in the world where American principles succeeded over opposing interests.

"In China," he said in a newspaper interview, "we supported the establishment of free, united, Democratic government."

"While we upheld the national government and the unification of China during the war, we consistently labored, and to a great extent succeeded, in pointing the way to liberalization of that government. China co-operated."

Hurley charged "confusion, lack of clear directive and lack of discipline," in criticizing post-war foreign policy.

Weeks Become More Hectic

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—President Truman observed today that each week gets "a little more hectic" than the last.

The President, addressing personnel heads of the executive departments and agencies, said he has been thinking every week "that perhaps the next week will not be quite so hectic as the week just passed, but the coming week is always just a little more hectic."

"This is one place," he told the 125 government officials in a discussion of the new civil service appointment program, "where you never lack for action and where there is always a crisis just around the corner and I have to do something about it."

"But the next day the crisis is passed, and it's just like yesterday's newspapers. That's the way we must face those things."

The President addressed the group in the motion picture room of the White House. He spoke informally, and the White House released a transcript of his remarks.

Good Many Are Too Fat Anyway

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—President Truman called upon the American people tonight to co-operate in his new food conservation program designed to prevent starvation abroad.

He told the Women's National Press Club that a good many Americans were too fat anyway and could afford to lose a little weight if it meant sustaining lives of others.

The President went into a serious vein after a humorous off-the-record speech. After he had spoken at some length on what he called America's duty to prevent starvation in war-torn countries, he told his audience that this part of his speech was "on the record."

He referred to the sumptuous banquet which he had just enjoyed, and said that what he had been served would be sufficient to keep one family in Greece from starving to death for three weeks.

FAVORABLE COMMENTS have been coming in thick and fast to KMBC's latest coast-to-coast network origination, "Night-time on the Trail" (Tuesdays, 10:30 p.m.). Most of the fans who write in from distant points seem somewhat surprised that the show portrays such a true atmosphere of life on the range. Possibly they haven't heard that radio's top western singing group, "The Texas Rangers," also headquarters at KMBC. Among the favorable comments were words of approval for the fine emcee job of Harry Douglas, upon whose mythical ranch action takes place. Harry is newly returned from two years service at Shemya, Alaska, in the Aleutians.

THIS WEEK "hears" the start of a new program series, titled "On the Scene." Gene Dennis, special events head, promises plenty of excitement during the weekly quarter-hour which records happenings "on the scene" of traffic accidents about Greater Kansas City. Program time is 9:45 p.m. Thursdays.

BLOW-BY-BLOW accounts of the Golden Gloves tournament will be heard nightly on KMBC at 11:05 starting Monday. By the way—that is KMBC's own Sam Molen in the comics, co-starring with Captain Marvel this month in this favorite comic book of the same name.

ONE of radio's early landmarks comes back into its own this week (KMBC—Tuesdays, 8:30 p.m.) when the "Columbia Workshop" presents a Joseph Russell Drama, "Anniversary." First heard on July 18, 1936, the workshop stimulates dramatic writing for radio. "Unknowns" are encouraged to submit scripts and to take part in the production of scripts selected for broadcast. To the workshop in 1938 came Norman Corwin, then 27 and a beginner in radio.

BEHIND THE SCENES of "The Big Brother Club" (KMBC—weekdays, 5:30 p.m.) is a wealth of human interest. Tim West, chief Big Brother, is a dynamo for getting things done. He is certainly to be praised for his resolution (carried out) that Club members when ill should be contacted personally. Quite a task with over 20,000 members. Tim received so many cards at Christmas that he is still acknowledging them. But Tim is determined that such thoughtfulness of Club members is worthy of personal attention. Club members should keep their ears glued to the loudspeaker (tuned to KMBC) for there are attractive prizes being given away in the "Big Brother Club" sponsored grease drive.

ANSWER-BOX TO THE MAIL-BOX—Believe that Louisiana Lou is the same listeners used to hear. She left KMBC for a year, returning last Fall. Received a card the other day from John Cameron Swayze, former KMBC newsman, in Santa Monica, California. Jack Dunigan and Gertrude Miller can be heard on WKBN, Youngstown, Ohio. Santa Fe Slim is taking the lead in a successful stage play in Los Angeles. What would you like to know about Don Sullivan? Send in the questions, and we'll try to supply the answers two weeks from today!

That appears to be 980 from here!

Legislators Would Like To Solve Country Road Question

By George Sitterley
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Missouri's country roads, often ribbons of sucking, clinging mire in wet weather and dangerously rutted lanes in dry, still bog down the 63rd general assembly.

As if giving an all around agreeable implementation to the 1945 constitution wasn't task enough, the legislature has been burdened with the road woes of the farmers who want to get to town quickly and safely, want their mail delivered regularly and would like to have their children get to school.

It's widening the traditional breach between metropolitan Missourians and the folks who live in the rural areas.

Both Should Profit
Generally, the city people say the back roads are a local problem and should be solved by local government. But the farmers answer, perhaps rightly, that the city folks would profit, too, if the agricultural products could be delivered regularly and manufactured products could be returned to the big rural consumer field.

The legislature would like to solve the problem once and for all. But as yet there's been no agreement as to which of several bills—if any of them—offers the best solution. Here, briefly, are the major suggestions introduced and how far they've got in the legislative mill:

The Quinn bill—which would set up a ten-man Highway Commission with one member from each of the present highway department districts. Introduced by Sen. William M. Quinn (D) Maywood, it struck at the autonomy of the present four-man commission and its alleged control by metropolitan areas. Highway and supplementary road construction has been favoring travel from town to town too much, Quinn bill sympathizers declare. The opposition contends that representation on a sectional basis would increase rather than decrease the log-rolling of which the present board is accused.

Vetoed By Governor
The bill passed the senate and scraped through the house with a few votes to spare but was vetoed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly on the grounds that the four-man commission had done a good job. There was no assurance that a ten-man commission could or would do better, he said.

Then, disgruntled Democratic opponents in the senate called up the bill again and Republicans scrambled to join in overriding the Democratic governor's veto. Observers in the house see little chance for the bill to get the necessary two-thirds votes there and predict it will never be called up.

The Farquhar bill—using much the same arguments as were used by proponents of the Quinn bill, this one would increase Highway Commission membership to six, also on a sectional basis. Its supporters believe they can recruit many Quinn backers if they become convinced their measure is a dead duck. But the ogre of another veto by the governor is flaunted by opponents.

Bill Pending
The bill authored by Rep. J. S. N. Farquhar (R) of Cape Girardeau county, still is pending in a house committee having never had a trial on the floor except as a suggested amendment when the Quinn bill was being debated.

The Duval bill—would set up a statewide county road commission, to make a minute and careful study of the rural road problem and report to the governor. He would base any recommendations to the legislature on the report from the 18-man commission.

Proponents declare this is a constructive approach to the problem which might result in streamlining construction and maintenance work to save money and build more miles of road for the farmers.

Some Suggestions
No outspoken opposition has been voiced to the bill introduced by Rep. Milton F. Duval (D) of Pike county but it has been suggested that the number of commissioners be decreased and part of them be chosen from organized farmers groups such as the Missouri Farmers Association or the Farm Bureau Federation. It is still in committee.

The King bill—sometimes called the "milk route" bill because it would favor the roads used for delivery of milk, mail or the routes of school buses. It would provide matching state funds for a county road program.

State Matches Funds
Apportioned half on the ratio of road miles in the county as compared to total state mileage and half on assessed valuation of the county as compared to all of Missouri, state matching funds up to $750 a mile would be given each county for road work.

Introduced by Rep. R. J. King (R) of Franklin, county, it has passed the house and is pending in a senate committee.

There have been a number of other suggestions, including legislation to permit up to ten counties to join for common road improvement work.

Perhaps, as suggested by the Automobile Club, it would be more economical to slash away a large number of the nearly 2,000 commissions and agencies now doing highway and road work in Missouri. At first glance, that would seem economical and practical. Such a plan would eliminate heavy purchase of expensive road machinery, the plan's proponents declare, and would permit more economical use because the equipment would be working the year around instead of a mere fraction of the time.

Difference of Opinion
But any attempt to decrease the number would be difficult. Last week a bill was amended in the house to assure perpetuation of special road districts. Champions of the districts declare they have done splendid job of road building and maintaining in their areas at a time when there was little attempt at an over-all plan.

Opponents say the period of the special districts' usefulness is past, travel has become so general and necessary that all roads should receive equal attention—not in cost but in conditioning.

Whatever the answer, it will require more coordination of effort on the part of the general assembly itself before it is reached—even the legislators admit that.

Stover Leads PCAA League In Basketball

Cole Camp Girl's Volleyball Team Is Also PCAA Leader

With most schools in the league having completed their schedule the P. C. A. basketball standings show that Stover high school leads the league with eight games won and no losses. Cole Camp with all of its games played, is in second place with eight wins and one loss, while Warsaw is only a few percentage points behind, with seven wins and one loss.

Warsaw and Stover each have one conference game remaining to be played and that is with each other. Stover can win undisputed claim to the 1945-46 championship by defeating Warsaw, while the latter can throw the championship into a three way tie between Stover, Cole Camp, and Warsaw by defeating the "Bulldogs." In the only game previously played this year between these two teams, Stover nosed out Warsaw in an over-time game at Stover, after trailing throughout the game.

Basketball competition in this league was on a higher level than normal this year with seven of the ten conference schools having teams which at times were capable of playing excellent basketball. After a slow start the Green Ridge and Lincoln teams have shown enough improvement in the past few weeks to make them a threat to the leaders in the conference tournament to be played next week.

The Cole Camp team, the tallest in the league, has played consistently good ball all year, having been defeated but once in conference play by Stover. Warsaw's one loss was suffered at the hands of Cole Camp.

In volleyball competition the Cole Camp team has already clinched the championship by completing the season undefeated, with Stover, Hughesville, and Lincoln finishing in that order.

Widespread Program Food-Patch Planting

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A widespread program of food-patch planting for waterfowl has been urged by the Missouri Duck Hunters Association and the Conservation Federation of Missouri as a means of attracting more ducks to shooting grounds of this state.

Pointing out that lack of natural foods is one of the basic reasons why migrating ducks do not tarry long enough to give local hunters their fair share of shooting, the conservation groups recommend that "every available patch be planted to provide food."

Creation of additional water areas would be helpful, the sportsmen agreed, but noted that existing lakes are not being used by wild ducks because there are no adjacent feeding grounds.

The Duck Hunters Association issued a list of aquatic and marsh plants valuable for duck food with directions for planting them. Among the recommended plants are wild millet, chara, smartweeds, and chufa or yellow nutgrass.

Interested sportsmen were advised to write to Harold V. Terrill, technician, Missouri Conservation Commission, Jefferson City, for further technical information or to obtain Bulletins 205 and 465 issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. These bulletins on wild duck foods may be secured free of charge by writing to the Division of Wildlife Refuges, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Chicago 54, Illinois.

Only Five Series Champs Holdouts

DETROIT, Fe. 9.—(P)—Only five key men from the Detroit Tigers' world series baseball champions of 1945 today remained unsigned for next season as General Manager George M. Trautman announced receipt of a dozen additional signed contracts bringing the total to 31 players under terms.

Still missing though not considered holdouts, unless they fail to come to terms by the opening of Detroit's Lakeland, Fla., training camp 10 days hence, are pitchers Hal Newhouse and Al Benton, infielders Hank Greenberg and Bobby Maier and outfielder Roger (Doc) Cramer.

The Tigers mailed Greenberg his 1946 contract yesterday and admittedly are still in the "negotiation stages" with the big outfielder who is expected to return to his old-time first base post.

San Vicente Handicap Won By Air Rate

1945 Juvenile Champ Scores Victory Over Galla Damion

By Bill Besker

ARCADIA, Feb. 9.—(P)—Fred Wyse's Air Rate, New England juvenile champion in 1945, scored a four length victory as the favored Galla Damion ran seventh in a nine-horse field today in the $25,000, one mile San Vicente handicap for three year olds.

Air Rate, winner of eight races in nine previous starts, was taken to the front at the first quarter and held a commanding lead thru-out. Piloted by Jockey Harry Pratt, Air Rate was clocked in 1:37 4-5 and paid $24.30, $8.90 and $5.50.

Another outsider, Favorito of La Favorita Farm, finished second, paying $26.50 and $14.20. Darby D Day showed to return $9.90.

All prices were boosted by the failure of Galla Damion, who was made a 1-2 favorite by the 51,000 crowd which bet more than $300,000 on the big day sensation despite his weight package of 126 pounds.

Galla Damion, off to a slow start and bumped slightly on the first turn, moved up to fourth at the half-mile mark, but faded badly in the stretch run.

The victory avenged Air Rate's only defeat, by Galla Damion in a recent sprint feature. Carrying 122 pounds, the Wyse colt handled the load like a champion. The first place money of $18,550 boosted his total earnings to $101,180.

Galla Damion's upset shattered the myth of invincibility that was beginning to grow around the colt and also threw the Santa Anita derby on Feb. 23 wide open.

Nelson And Hogan Tie In Texas Open

Hogan's Six Under Par Gives Him 132 At Halfway Mark

By Harold J. Ratliff

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 9.—(P)—Bantam Ben Hogan raced in with a six-under-par 65 on windswept Brackenridge Park course today to tie Byron Nelson for the lead at the halfway mark at 132 for 36 holes.

Hogan's great round was climaxed by a birdie duce on No. 18 after the little giant of the fairways earlier had counted two eagles.

Nelson came in today with a 68 and had left the clubhouse an hour before Hogan, with whom he used to caddy at Fort Worth, came in, grinning broadly.

Four strokes back at 136 was Art Doering, young Denver professional who had tied Nelson with a 64 at the end of yesterday's first round. Doering shot a one-over-par 72 today as he ran into trouble on holes five and seven where he was one and two over respectively.

Nelson, the Denton, Texas, farmer whose business address is Toledo, O., had predicted just before he left the course that Hogan would tie him. Ben at that time was five under par.

Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., and Jim Ferrier of Chicago, former Australian champion, tied for 4th place with 137 each. Ghezzi shooting a 67 today while Ferrier was hitting 69.

Next in line were four more professionals—Dick Metz, Arkansas City, Kas.; Herman Keriser, Akron, Ohio; Toney Penna, Dayton, O., and Bob Hamilton, Chicago. Each had 138.

The field today was cut to 62—the 60 low scorers and ties—and will play the final 36 holes tomorrow.

Tigers No. 1 In The Sub-Region Tourney

The Smith-Cotton Tigers have been seeded as No. 1 in the sub-regional tournament to be held at Marshall high school on February 20, 23, inclusive. Their first game will be played at 7:30 o'clock the night of February 20 with Carrollton.

Teams in the top bracket are: Otterville, Sedalia, Carrollton, Sacred Heart (Sedalia), and Marshall. The lower bracket includes the following teams: Marshall, Malta Bend, Boonville, Kemper M. A. (Boonville), and Slater.

Sedalia being seeded as the No. 1 team must play the extra game with Carrollton. All games are played at night starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Okla. City Indians Sign Three Players

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 9.—(P)—The Oklahoma City Indians announced tonight signing of three baseball players—all veterans—boosting to 15 their string of candidates.

Latest additions were Raymond Bauer, outfielder formerly with Boise in the Pioneer league; Dale Myers, outfielder, Pennsylvania State leaguer in 1941, and Roy (Deck) Woldt, infielder, former Northern State leaguer with Eau Claire, Wis.

Woldt and Myers, both 25, were stationed at Will Rogers Army Air Field here during the war.

Breadon Reports 25 Cardinals Sign

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—(P)—Without naming the players involved, owner Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals announced today that 25 members of his big, talent-laden squad have been signed for 1946.

All contracts have been mailed, Breadon said, and he expects to come to terms with most of the other 35 members of the squad in the near future.

Among those who have come into the fold are most of the ex-servicemen on the Cardinal roster who are scheduled to open training Feb. 18 at St. Petersburg, Fla., Breadon added.

Sport Scraps

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

THE past week the Sacred Heart basketball team journeyed over to Boonville where it played the St. Peter and Paul Catholic school team in basketball, and incidentally Father William Stack's gang won the game. But there were funny remarks made by the "kids" who were along and rooted for the hometown aggregation, one of which I must pass on to you good readers.

You all know that it makes little difference which shoe the foot is on regardless what happens the students must have some "grape" or they actually would be happy—wouldn't I know that from personal experience.

It seems one rooter said, "We won the game but it was a tough contest. Why the referee was a 'cop' from Boonville—(policeman to you)—and it looked as if he was playing 'cops' and robbers—but we won't," he said.

THIS past week one of baseball's Greatest celebrated his 52nd birthday anniversary and it was none other than the Bam himself Babe Ruth. The old homerun king has been bothered by nose and throat trouble, but he still manages to keep up his exercise by bowling daily and hitting the golf balls around twice a week.

A knee operation about two years ago was for the removal of a cartilage, and necessitated by a baseball injury incurred in 1918, still troubles him and interferes with his pivoting in golf.

The Bam continues to repeat that he would like a job in baseball, but the games greatest figure still remains its forgotten man.

GOVERNOR PHIL M. DONNELLY, several days ago announced the appointment of Thomas E. Walsh, Kansas City lawyer as Secretary of the Missouri State Athletic Commission. He succeeds Fred R. McMahon, Springfield.

Walsh was selected by the new Athletic Commission for the position recently, and I know the selection is a good one and the business of the Commission will be in good hands.

BAN JOHNSON baseball again may invade Sedalia, at least those interested in this branch of baseball desire to see Sedalia have a team entered in the new circuit being organized in which Columbia, Moberly, Mexico, Jefferson City, Boonville and Marshall, have already indicated as being on the circuit.

Sedalia is invited and I have on my desk a letter from W. N. Collins, a director of the new baseball circuit inviting some Sedalians to attend the next meeting of the league at Columbia which will be held February 17 at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the Municipal Building.

Anyone interested in organizing Ban Johnson ball here is welcome to the correspondence.

EARLY reports received here are Sedalia will have it's share of baseball teams this year. The Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, has given the "green light" for both a Junior baseball team and a Senior baseball aggregation. The Sedalia Merchants also plan on reorganization this summer, and one or two other teams are in the making.

Johnny Thomas, former pitcher for the Sedalia Merchants and whose son Junior baseball fame last summer as shortstop on the local team, will manage the Junior aggregation in accordance with the grapevine. Johnny is a member of the Post and returned home from service in Alaska with the Navy.

The managship of the Senior team has not been definitely decided on, or at least it hasn't been made public as yet. The Post has a good number of Junior Legion players of years gone by who were in the service, are out, and are now members of the post and desire to play under the Legion colors.

The Merchants, will be managed by Palmer Nichols, according to his statement Friday night. Nichols is confident the Merchants have their place in baseball in Sedalia.

Vincent Siegel, formerly in the Navy, now out of the service has a number of former Ban Johnson players on his "tail" talking him into organizing a team this summer.

Then there is the Coal Chute diamond team being talked of, and a team in Southeast Sedalia. These teams never worked up a lot of in-town competition, but there should be enough players around to put baseball on the "active list" again.

THE other day I received word that First Lieut. Eggleston "Aggie" McMillan, former graduate of Wentworth Military Academy, attended the annual reunion of the school held at Lexington, Mo., last January.

"Aggie" is now on terminal leave and plans on attending College in Texas.

Les MacMitchell Wins Boston's A. A. Mile

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—After fulfilling his promise to set the pace, Marcel Hansenne of France, again had to take a third behind Les MacMitchell of New York, in the Boston A.A. meet's Hunter mile feature tonight before a packed 13,900 crowd at the Boston Garden. While turning in his third straight win in as many weeks, MacMitchell romped to the tape in 4:13.6.

National cross-country titlist Tom Quinn of the New York A. C., who moved into second place after Hansenne surrendered the lead to MacMitchell during the sixth of the 11 turns about the track, stayed there to finish 25 yards behind the victor.

Hansenne, the French metric mile champion, planned to go out at the gun and do a 59-second first quarter. It took him 60.6 for the first 440 yards. Just after MacMitchell took over the lead, he was clocked at 2:06.9 for the half-mile.

After the seventh lap, the long and lean Frenchman, whose physique stamps him as a natural half-miler, although he has beaten Gunder Haeg in mile competition, started to wilt.

The Tigers trailed at the start but Jim Austin and Thornton Jenkins, the two ex-service men, went into action and Missouri passed the Wildcats mid-way of the first half. Missouri led 25 to 22 at intermission.

Dave Weatherly, K-State forward, was the game scoring star with 25 points. Jenkins had 18 and Austin 14 for their night's work.

Twenty-seven fouls were called against Kansas State and four Wildcats were eliminated via the 5-foul route.

Wrestling Matches Tuesday Postponed

Because talent desired for the Sedalia ring could not be obtained by Promotor Simon Kalis, the matches sponsored by Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, have been postponed one week. The next matches will be held Tuesday night, February 19.

Kalis in a telephone message to The Democrat-Capital sports department, Saturday said that he desired to get better talent than has appeared here in the past two or three weeks. "I want to bring Ray Graham to meet Brother Jonathan, and a number of other headliners who Sedalians like to see, hence I had to call off the matches for next week as these men are busy in other towns."

"You can assure the sponsors as well as the Sedalia fans, that if we can't get the best we don't care to hold a show and have the fans disappointed. Sedalia is a town where action is desired, where a villain does his best to keep them mad, hence that's what we intend to do."

National Wildlife Week Dates Date

National Wildlife Week this year has been set for the week beginning March 17. Proclaimed by President Roosevelt in 1938, it has been sponsored annually by the National Wildlife Federation.

How the conservation of wildlife is related to soil, water and plant control will be the underlying theme of conservationists who, through the press, over the radio and from the public platform, will tell this dramatic story to the nearly 20,000,000 Americans interested in the out-of-doors and the creatures that inhabit it.

Each year the National Wildlife Federation issues a sheet of wildlife poster stamps reproduced from paintings by famous American nature artists. The current issue has 40 studies of birds, mammals, fish, flowers and trees in the 64 stamps on the sheet.

Clubs, societies and individuals interested in securing further information about Wildlife Week activities should write the Federation at 20 Spruce Street, Boston, Mass.

Brown Signers Now Number Twenty-Nine

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—(P)—The St. Louis Browns signed two more pitchers and two more outfielders to 1946 contracts today, bringing the total number of players who have agreed to terms to 29.

The outfielders were the veteran Lou Finney and Rookie Barney Lutz and the pitchers were Sam Zoldak who was with the club the past two seasons and ex-sailor Fred Sanford who will be making his first bid for a major league job.

Pitcher Jack Kramer remains the Browns' only known holdout and Vice-President Bill Dewitt said he expected to sign the big right-hander before training camp opens, Feb. 20.

An Excess Of Talent On The Card Roster

Yanks, Dodgers And Giants Topheavy On Their Spring Players

B. Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(P)—Baseballs most interesting spring training season opens today with the New York Giants and Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers forming the vanguard of more than 900 big leaguers returning to warmer climes after three years absence.

Each club has a topheavy player roster that must be pruned by sale, option or outright release. Who will go and who will stay depends largely on the playing condition of returning servicemen who will decide the 1946 pennant race.

Cards Start Work 18th

St. Louis, for example, has an excess of talent on the Cardinal ball club that goes into St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 18. Owner Sam Breadon and Manager Eddie Dyer must decide if Terry Moore, Max Lanier, Howie Pollet and others can play up to prewar standards. They also must determine if younger players like Dick Sisler and Fred Martin are ready for the big show.

Once the decision is made, the biggest selling bee since the Florida land boom will be under way. Every club in baseball hopes to land a Cardinal pitcher and the bidding may go sky high if the right players are put on the market.

No Assurance Of Repeats

Although the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs won the 1945 flags there is no assurance that they will be favored to repeat.

Only two managerial changes have been made since the world series, both in the National where Billy Southworth left the Cards to replace Del Bissone at Boston. Dyer, a veteran minor league pilot, succeeded Billy the Kid.

Most of the teams are holding special early camps for their ex-GIs, some in connection with the regular training and one, the Cubs, at a different site. Scout Jack Sheehan has been working with a squad of Bruin veterans in Florida for almost a month.

Brooklyn opened its "Montreal" camp at Sanford, Fla., Feb. 1 and a bevy of minor league managers have been helping President Branch Rickey instruct the discharges.

Marsh Joe McCarthy led his 38-man expedition into Panama today where they will work out and play an 11-game schedule starting Feb. 21. In the meantime other Yanks will report at the main bases in St. Petersburg and Bradenton Feb. 16-23.
